Post Conference Report
Contemporary Issues Summit at Harvard
15-16 March 2017

The CIS@HARVARD on Innovation, Inspiration and Hope in a VUCA (Volatility, Uncertainty, Complexity, Ambiguity), Conference, held in Harvard university from 15-16 March 2017. CIS@HARVARD event provided a unique opportunity to bring together stakeholders from academia, government, international agencies, NGOs, non-profits, and social entrepreneurs to explore and share practical, evidence-based solutions to some of the world's most pressing contemporary challenges. The theme of the 2017 summit was Innovation, Inspiration, and Hope in a VUCA World.

The purpose of my participation in the event was to present the research paper titled "Social Bonds: Migration and comparative analysis of remitting behaviour between Pakistani and Indian Diaspora". This presentation provided an overview of migration, and worldwide remittance flow of immigrants from India and Pakistan to their home countries and a nonlinear model by dividing remittance per person with the number of immigrants from India and Pakistan worldwide, also focusing on the ratio of male and female immigrants.

It was a great honour and opportunity to speak at Harvard. My presentation was scheduled on 15th March 2017 under track titled "Social Bonds: Migration and comparative analysis of remitting behaviour between Pakistani and Indian Diaspora" chaired by Dr. Susan Cardillo. The presentation was followed by discussion and feedback from the participants and the session chair. I also served as a sessions chair and it was a great experience for me.

The conference participants came from diverse backgrounds academia, government, international agencies, NGOs, non-profits, and social entrepreneurs but were currently involved in Innovation, Inspiration and Hope in a VUCA (Volatility, Uncertainty, Complexity, Ambiguity) world. I collected valuable information and the researchers gave me very useful insight into how I could expand the scope of my research work. Overall, the event was a great learning experience and enriched my understanding of the subject and importance of collaboration within the scientific communities. It was extremely rewarding to be part of the research activity.

I am very grateful to Förderverein for the financial support.

Sincerely,

Muhammad Zubair
Doctoral Student
